These loans may not be used to finance new or substantially expanded operations. The total amount of all loans for all purposes must not exceed the applicants repayment ability. The total of all actual loss loans is based on actual dollar value of production and physical losses, and they will be for: (1) disasters occurring on or after July 1, 1976, and prior to October 1, 1978, at 3 percent interest rate on amounts not to exceed $250,000 for EM loans for actual losses and five percent interest rate on amounts not to exceed $500,000 per disaster; (2) disasters occurring after October 1, 1978, all actual loss loans are at five percent interest with a maximum limit of $500,000 per disaster. MARC Faculty Fellowships are for selected faculty members of institutions with substantial minority enrollment for advanced research training in specified areas of research related to mental health, alcoholism, and drug abuse. It is intended the fellowship recipients will return to their home institution to teach and conduct research, and to inspire and assist students to prepare for professional and research careers. The amount of the stipend awarded under the faculty fellowship will be commensurate with the salary or remuneration that the fellow would have been entitled to receive from his or her home institution, on the date of acceptance of the fellowship, except in no case shall the stipend exceed $25,000 annually. When an individual award is for approved training involving research at sites other than the sponsoring institution, an allowance may be requested to help support field costs of the research as well as travel. MARC Honors Undergraduate grants are to increase the number of well-prepared students from institutions with substantial minority enrollments who can compete successfully for entry into Ph.D. degree programs in disciplines related to mental health, alcoholism, and drug abuse; and to help develop and strengthen biobehavioral, psychological, social, and/or public health sciences curricula and research training opportunities in order to prepare students for research careers related to mental health, alcoholism, and drug abuse. Stipends of $3,900 per year may be requested for each trainee and other related institutional costs may be requested.

13.275 DRUG ABUSE PREVENTION PROGRAMS

AUTHORIZATION:

Drug Abuse Prevention Treatment and Rehabilitation Act, Public Law 92-255, as amended, Section 410.

OBJECTIVES:

To acquire and develop new drug abuse prevention knowledge through evaluative research and to disseminate effective strategies and techniques to the field. Also, to assist States to identify, develop, coordinate, and implement effective prevention strategies, concepts, theories, and models in States and local communities. This State Drug Abuse Prevention Grant Program consists of three major parts: (1) State Prevention Coordinator; (2) Prevention Services Program; and (3) Channel One.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grant support is available for part or all of the costs related to (1) The evaluation of prevention programs dealing with the use and abuse of drugs and the prevention of drug abuse; (2) The evaluation of programs of drug abuse prevention directed at the general public or such special populations as youth, minorities, women, and the elderly. Grants to States are intended to (1) assist each State in developing and implementing a drug abuse prevention coordinator function, (2) provide support in local communities for prevention service programs, (3) support activities known as "Channel One" component based on a public sector/private sector model to stimulate programs that stress innovative cost-effective prevention strategies. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered suitable for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as suitable for joint funding, the applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS:

Applicant Eligibility:

Applicants for drug abuse prevention projects must be public or private nonprofit organizations. Applicants for the State Drug Abuse Prevention Grant Program must be single State agencies for Drug Abuse Prevention or the officially designated State unit responsible for drug abuse prevention programs. An application for support under the State prevention coordinator portion must be included, as a prerequisite, for a consideration of support under the prevention services program and/or Channel One components.

APPLICATION AND AWARD PROCESS:

Application Procedure:

Consult with staff of National Institute on Drug Abuse from which application forms may be obtained. Grant applications are forwarded for review by both Federal and non-Federal consultants and the appropriate National Advisory Council. This program is subject to the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-110 and A-102, depending on the type of applicant.

ASSISTANCE CONSIDERATIONS:

Formula and Matching Requirements:

There is no matching requirement for drug abuse prevention grants. To assist States in estimating a grant budget for the prevention services program, the formula used to calculate the State drug abuse formula grant awards in FY 1980 has been applied to determine each State's allocation of funds for this portion of the grant program. Where the application of the formula has resulted in an amount less than $25,000, a minimum funding level has been established. A base funding level of approximately $10,000 per State has been determined to establish new "Channel One" sites. Additional funding may be added to the base depending on the number of States requesting and receiving approved support.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Drug abuse prevention grants may be for periods of not more than five years. As a general rule, in the State Drug Abuse Prevention Grant Program, each State's project period will coincide with the project period for its Statewide Services Grant Program. Continuation application must be submitted on a noncompeting basis for each year of support after the first year. Payments either on a Monthly Cash Request System or under a Letter of Credit.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Training proposals will be favored which enhance the capacity and effectiveness of the National Institute on Drug Abuse's treatment and rehabilitation services. It is the goal of NIDA to improve the geographic distribution and balance of existing manpower resources and more effective utilization of such resources. Programs should address the needs of poverty communities and should have on program staff and among trainees representatives from these communities. Another criterion that is given weight in assessing proposals is their congruence with high standards of program quality. Technical merit of proposal, relevance to NIDA treatment and rehabilitation services priorities, competence of proposed project staff, suitability of facilities and environment are considered in determining what projects will be funded. State training support program proposals should address each of the training systems model elements based on the unique characteristics of the State and its Single State Agency. Proposals should include documentation of past accomplishments, specific objectives for the grant funding period and realistic action plans for using all available resources for reaching the objectives. Reviewers focus on continuity of effort and capacity development as documented in the proposal.

Grants and contracts by the Office of Policy Development/HDS range from $100,000 to $250,000, averaging about $150,000.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

The conceptualization and development of R,D, and E projects was, in 1980, a result of a rigorous process to link Office of Policy Development R and D projects to agency priorities and objectives. All of the OPD/HDS projects were, and will continue to be, focused to promote: (a) client services-finding out about different types of services-what works?; (b) Federal policy-evaluating, assessing, testing certain programs or policies that may lead to a change in legislation, regulation, or administrative procedures; (c) services management-finding out what happens to people in systems, and State and local practices-improving State/local management; (d) dissemination/transfer-disseminating or transferring R and D findings; and (e) special initiatives of the Secretary, Assistant Secretary. Significant products resulted in a number of areas, e.g., planning and implementation guidelines for coordinated agency transportation services, effective fiscal management in Human Services programs; analyzing costs in Human Services programs; rediscovering governance-using non-service approaches to address social welfare problems; residential child care guidebook, "Assuring The Quality Of Human Services-A Conceptual Analysis". It is anticipated that in fiscal year 1981, about 40 projects (including continuations and new starts) will be funded by the Office of Policy Development. In fiscal year 1980, 7 new projects were begun. Products expected include: model application of work methods techniques for child protective services, empirical data on hospice social services in the United States, implementation of model standards for residential child care, state-of-the-art papers in monitoring day care, foster care and child protective services, and model training packages for Title XX staff working with the developmentally disabled, development of methods for local governments to meet the socio-economic needs of their residents through the use of nonservice tools and strategies to ameliorate their social welfare problems; and the development of a computer simulation model of service consumption behaviors directed toward a goal of self-sufficiency. In fiscal year 1981, 6 new projects are planned.

1. Project objectives must be related to specific OPD/HDS goals and priorities defined in program announcements. Project objectives should be explicitly described and have measurable outcomes. Impacted OPD/HDS target groups should be individually and quantitatively estimated. The concept to be researched or demonstrated should be reflected in a clear statement of purpose. The knowledge, methods, or technology developed and of national significance in demonstration projects should be replicable in whole or in part and potentially applicable in areas other than the test sites. 2. A well-defined and carefully worked out methodology (hypotheses to be tested, research design, identification of variables, analytical methodologies, evaluation methods) must be included. Tasks and milestones should be clearly described and scheduled and the role and assignment of tasks to specific project staff described in detail. Project outcomes are described in relationship to tasks. The proposed time schedule should be reasonable considering data collection and analysis procedures geared to assessment of the degree to which intended objectives are achieved using quantitative measures to the maximum extent feasible. The evaluation is clearly distinguished from activities designed primarily for giving project staff feedback on their progress toward meeting project objectives. 3. The estimated budget must be given in detail with justifications and explanations. 4. Detailed plans for utilization of a research or a demonstration project's result at: (1) National or Regional HDS policy/program level, or (2) a State or local government agency policy/program level, should be included with detailed plans for appropriate dissemination procedures. 5. A brief and focused record of the applicant organization in conducting related research or demonstration project activities should be provided. The proposal should include qualifications of the project personnel and identify how those qualifications would enable those people to perform their assigned tasks in the project in a competent manner. The applicant organization should have adequate facilities and resources to carry out the project. The contribution of any collaborative agencies or organizations should be assured in writing and included with the application when it is submitted. The author(s) of the application must be clearly identified in the proposal together with their current relationship to the applicant organization and any future project role they have if the application is funded.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

During fiscal year 1979, 1,405 new complaints of discrimination were filed with OCR, and the Office investigated and closed 1,817 cases, including a large number carried over from previous years. This compares with 1,273 received and 1,044 closed in fiscal year 1978. OCR expects to receive about 1,563 complaints in fiscal year 1980, and a total of over 3,385 in fiscal years 1980 and 1981 combined. The Office also carries OCT self-initiated compliance reviews. During fiscal year 1980, 275 reviews were scheduled. These compliance reviews address a variety of possible discriminatory practices under all of the statutory authorities. They are not necessarily related to individual complaints. OCR personnel working on self-initiated review and assistance activities are responsible for ensuring that persons are not unlawfully discriminated against in federally assisted programs. This purpose is achieved by conducting compliance reviews and monitoring the implementation of remedial plans. In fiscal year 1981, OCR will continue to pursue a multi-faceted strategy to achieve a balanced compliance program. The essential components of the program are complaint investigations, compliance reviews, and activities to encourage voluntary compliance. Technical Assistance: Most technical assistance services are used to support compliance and monitoring activities. The projects include developing and disseminating compliance information, conducting workshops for grantees, designing model compliance plans for various types of covered programs, and training State and local officials who are responsible for achieving compliance. OCR will continue to assist recipients in complying with Section 504 and other civil rights laws. These activities are intended to provide recipients with the skills needed to apply the statute to particular circumstances. As a result, the technical assistance program promises significant long-term benefits by helping to prevent and eliminate discriminatory practices. Grant project reports or case studies are also published and distributed to State Historic Preservation Offices so that both site-specific information and responsible general approaches may be shared throughout the program. Technical Preservation Services through the regional offices is responsible for the review and evaluation of rehabilitation proposals and certification of work for certified historic structures under the Tax Reform Act of 1976 and the Revenue Act 1978. Technical Preservation Services through the regional offices is responsible for the review of rehabilitation and reuse proposals submitted with State and local government applications for the transfer of federally-owned surplus historic properties. Technical Preservation Services provides general technical assistance to private organizations, individuals, and local governments. In fiscal year 1980, approximately 850 grant-in-aid applications were approved; 800 Tax Reform Act rehabilitation projects were approved; and approximately 9 Federal surplus historic property transfers were approved. There were 220,000 items of technical preservation information distributed nationwide.

15.416 NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Professional advice is provided in determining whether a property qualifies for inclusion in the National Register according to the Criteria for Evaluation contained in 36 CFR Part 1202 (formerly 36 CFR Part 60.6). Listing does not affect the range of actions an owner may take, as long as Federal financing is not involved and no governmental unit receives any authority or control over the property, including its use and disposition. However, if a Federal project might have an effect on a property listed or eligible for listing, the agency involved must provide the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation a reasonable opportunity to comment pursuant to 36 CFR Part 800. Registered properties also become eligible to receive grants from the Historic Preservation grant-in-aid program of the Department of the Interior (see 15.411), to receive home improvement loans from the Department of Housing and Urban Development under Title I of the National Housing Act as amended on October 18, 1974, or to participate in the community grant program provided by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Major tax advantages can be received on certain rehabilitation expenditures for "certified historic structures" under the Tax Reform Act of 1976, as amended by Public Law 94-455, and under the Revenue Act of 1978 (see also 15.915).

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS:

Credentials/Documentation:

Nominations are submitted on standard nomination forms (revised 1976) provided upon request to the State Historic Preservation Officers and the Federal Representatives, who must certify that each property was properly nominated. Letters of request for determinations of eligibility must be adequately documented as described in Appendix A of 36 CFR Part 1204 (formerly 36 CFR Part 63). Requests for certification of historic properties must be documented as described in Section 67.1 of 36 CFR Part 1208 (formerly 36 CFR Part 67) and requests for certification of State and local statutes must be documented as described in Sec. 67.9 of 36 CFR Part 1208. To participate in the program, each State must have an approved review committee, an approved State staff, and an accepted statewide plan. Governors (or their designated Plan review agencies) must be given an opportunity to review the State Plan pursuant to Part III, Attachment A of OMB Circular No. A-95 (revised). State Plan deadline is January 15, 1979.

APPLICATION AND AWARD PROCESS:

Award Procedure:

The professional review staff of the National Register determines whether the properties meet the National Register criteria as contained in 36 CFR Part 1202. Properties that meet the criteria are then officially listed in the National Register and become eligible for benefits provided by the Tax Reform Act of 1976 and the Revenue Act of 1978.

During fiscal year 1980, the Office of Civil Rights Compliance has increased its efforts toward ensuring compliance of LEAA recipients with applicable civil rights orders, laws, statutes and regulations. Late in the fiscal year, there were 184 open complaints requiring resolutions. One hundred and twenty two cases have been successfully resolved within the fiscal year. The Intake and Control Unit received, analyzed and processed a total of 265 allegations. Of this total, 155 were closed and/or referred to other Federal, State and private civil rights agencies for lack of jurisdictional coverage. One hundred and ten were docketed as complaints and referred to the Operations Division for investigation. The agencies involved included municipal, county and State criminal justice agencies, and private nonprofit organizations. As a result of on-site civil rights compliance reviews, OJARS has entered into voluntary resolution agreements with the following criminal justice agencies: Kansas City, Missouri Police Department; Hartford, Connecticut Police Department; and Tennessee Department of Safety. Following an adversary hearing, an administrative law judge has imposed terms of resolution upon the South Dakota Board of Charities and Corrections after attempts at voluntary resolution had failed. In most cases, the initial step required was for applicants to hire and train State-employed attorneys and support staff. Some States also needed to develop comprehensive information systems, advanced training or more sophisticated investigation tools. This program is not to be used as a means to substitute Federal funding for existing State funding. In addition, the applicant must ensure that any attorneys or support personnel employed or retained with funds provided by this program enforce State or Federal antitrust laws.

The result of the grant activity will be closer scrutiny of local business activity than existed prior to the grant awards. ASSISTANCE CONSIDERATIONS:

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Title II B and C - 85 percent of available funds are allocated to prime sponsors according to the following formula in fiscal year 1980: Two thirds of this amount is allocated based on the prime sponsor's proportion of 1) employment and training funds allocated by formula under this title in the previous fiscal year compared to the sums received by all States under such title in that year (50 percent); 2) total number of unemployed persons in all prime sponsor's areas (37-1/2 percent); 3) number of adults in low income families (12-1/2 percent). The remaining one third of funds are allocated among prime sponsors in accordance with the prime sponsor's proportion of unemployed persons residing in areas of substantial unemployment. Individual prime sponsor allocations are adjusted to assure that no prime sponsor will receive less than 90 percent of the employment and training funds allocated to its area for the prior fiscal year. States are allocated one percent to their State Employment and Training Council for the costs incurred in carrying out provisions of section 110; 4 percent of the total B and C allocation for Governor's coordination and special services under section 105, and where deemed necessary by the Governor for additional support of State Employment and Training Council; 6 percent of the total funds available under Parts B and C for financial assistance for vocational education; one percent of funds available under the entire Title II for encouraging coordination and establishing linkages between prime sponsors and appropriate educational agencies and institutions. Title II D - At least 85 percent of the funds available are allocated among prime sponsors based on the proportion of total unemployed persons residing in each area of substantial unemployment to all such areas' unemployed, the sponsors' share of "families with an annual income below the low-income levels" and the sponsors' share of "excess" (more than 4-1/2 percent of the labor force) unemployed persons (25 percent for each factor). Title IV - YCCIP--75 percent of the funds are allocated among the States on the basis of the relative number of unemployed persons within each State as compared to all States except that not less than one-half of 1 percent shall be allocated for projects under this subpart within any one State and not less than one-half of 1 percent shall be allocated in the aggregate for projects in Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. YETP - 75 percent of funds available are allocated to prime sponsors according to formula: 37.5 percent by share of all unemployed persons; 37.5 percent by share of all unemployed persons residing in areas of substantial unemployment; and 25 percent by share of persons in low-income Families. Five percent of funds available are allocated to Governors, for state-wide youth services, using the same formula. SYEP - 95 percent of funds available are allocated to prime sponsors according to formula: 50 percent by share of SYEP funds in previous year; 37.5 percent by share of all unemployed persons; and 12.5 percent by share of adults in low-income families; except that each prime sponsor shall receive an allocation which, when added to its unexpended allocation for the previous fiscal year, shall be at least equal to the equal to the amount available to it for its summer program in the previous fiscal year. Title VI - Not less than 85 percent of the funds appropriated are allotted as follows: (a) 50 percent in proportion to each area's share of all unemployed persons; (b) 25 percent in proportion to the area's share of all unemployed persons in excess of 4.5 percent of the labor force; and (c) 25 percent among areas of substantial (6.5 percent for 3 consecutive months) unemployment as defined in the CETA regulations. Title VII -- 95 percent of funds available are allocated to prime sponsors as provided for in Title II-B. Minimum allocated levels may be established to ensure that every prime sponsor receives an allocation sufficient to mount a viable program. No less than 2 percent of funds is used to support PSIP programs for Native American entities. Additional funding is provided to prime sponsors that establish a single PIC that serves a substantial portion of a labor market area.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

The Office of National Programs awards grant to 46 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Trust Territories, American Samoa, Guam and Virgin Islands along with eight national organizations. A variety of organizational arrangements are used to administer the SCSEP projects. Most of the sponsors have contractual relationships and agreements with local service organizations. In many cases the SCSEP program is operated by a unit within the State aging agency and within sub-State area agencies on aging. Some of the national sponsoring organizations administer the SCSEP local projects directly through subsponsor agreements. Each local project is required to coordinate its activities with the CETA prime sponsor and with the State employment service. All of the projects operated under the auspices of the Senior Community Service Employment Program are basically the same in that services are provided through host agencies to the community at large or to the elderly community in general. Some of the activities have included transportation for the elderly, housing programs that have included winterization as well as weatherization, serving the community as librarians, teachers aides, nutritional aides, etc.

17.301 EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY BY FEDERAL CONTRACTORS AND FEDERALLY-ASSISTED CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS

FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

Obligations:

(Salaries and Expenses-Labor Department Only) FY 79 $42,982,000; FY 80 est $51,846,000; and FY 81 est $54,037,000.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Total back pay and other financial settlements during fiscal year 1980 was estimated at $17.1 million affecting nearly 5,000 individuals. More that $6,000,000 of the total occurred during the first quarter. During fiscal year 1980, five companies were debarred, twenty administrative complaints were issued, and 1,775 contractors were found in noncompliance (through the third quarter). Approximatley 3,700 complaints were received in fiscal year 1980. This resulted in an estimated 1,640 complaints being investigated. A broad spectrum of enforcement activity is ongoing. During the first three quarters of fiscal year 1980, the employment practices of facilities employing approximately 750,000 workers have been reviewed for compliance with EEO and affirmative action contract provisions. OFCCP's field manual has received wide distribution and acceptance, establishing clear and consistent procedures to be followed in carrying out the compliance process. Publications on January 22, 1980 and February 1, 1980, for public comment proposed new rules on contractor payment of membership fees to private clubs and exclusion of women from the workplace because of alleged reproductive hazards. Other substantive and procedural changes are in various stages of clearance pursuant to final rulemaking. On September 30, 1980, OFCCP published in the Federal Register affirmative action goals and timetables for minority participation in the construction industry. The coverage is nationwide (a first in contract compliance history for minorities) and the goals were computed for two types of geographical units, the Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) and the Economic Area (EA). There are 285 SMSAs and 183 EAs in the United States. Nationwide goals and timetables for women were established during fiscal year 1978. Every nonexempt Federal and federally-assisted construction contracting firm in the United States is committed to a precalculated, numerical affirmative action goal for women and minorities in its total construction workforce. A higher quality compliance review, which now routinely includes an affected class analysis, diminishes the total number of reviews completed. However, nearly 3,000 compliance reviews were completed in fiscal year 1980. OFCCP expects to increase this activity in fiscal year 1981 to approximately 3,865 completed reviews with approximately 8,000 completed compliance actions of all types.

Toxic Substances Control Act, Public Law 94-469 as amended, 15 U.S.C. 2622, Section 23.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide standards protecting wages of working persons by requiring a minimum hourly wage rate and overtime pay or a prevailing hourly wage rates, fringe benefits and overtime pay under the Contract Acts. Additional standards apply to child labor and to protection of employee from discrimination for engagement in certain "whistleblower" activities.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Federal wage and hour standards apply generally to employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce or in enterprises so engaged. For covered employment the minimum hourly wage is $3.10 ($3.35 per hour beginning January 1, 1981), with time and one-half required for hours worked over 40 in a work week. To the extent necessary to prevent curtailment of employment opportunity, certificates authorizing special minimum wage rates are issued for learners, handicapped workers, full-time students, student workers, and apprentices. Failure to comply with the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act may result in an assessment of a civil money penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each violation. Employees of contractors performing on most federally financed or assisted construction projects, or providing services under contract to Federal agencies, are subject to special standards. These special standards require that employees receive no less than the wages and fringe benefits prevailing in the locality as determined by the Secretary of Labor, and that overtime compensation after 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week be paid. The standards apply to performance on direct Federal contracts and also to most construction projects financed in whole or in part by the Federal Government (e.g., projects under the Revenue Sharing Act of 1972 and National Housing Act). For Federal and federally assisted construction and Federal service contracts subject to prevailing wage requirements, contracting agencies must request a wage determination from the Wage and Hour Division. Employees working on Federal contracts in excess of $10,000 calling for the manufacture or furnishing of supplies are required to be paid not less than the Federal minimum wage and overtime pay after 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week. An employee is protected from discharge or other forms of discrimination under the so-called "whistleblower" provisions of several environmental impact laws, where the employee testifies in or otherwise assists a proceeding or other investigation of a violation of one of these statutes. A protected employee may obtain reinstatement to the former position and/or other forms of redress.

APPLICATION AND AWARD PROCESS:

Application Procedure:

Persons having knowledge of wage and employment practices which are not in compliance with the minimum standards of these acts, and persons requesting additional information concerning these standards, are encouraged to write, telephone, or visit the nearest Wage and Hour Division Office listed in the appendix. Information should be provided describing the type of business and the nature of the work performed. Unless otherwise authorized, the names of persons making inquiries are treated in complete confidence. For Federal construction contracts or Federal service contracts subject to prevailing wage requirements, the contracting agency must request a wage determination from the Wage and Hour Division. The wage determination must be furnished to bidders and is made a part of the contract along with certain contract stipulations.

45.111 PROMOTION OF THE HUMANITIES—HIGHER EDUCATION/REGIONAL AND NATIONAL GRANTS

OBJECTIVES:

To promote the development and testing of imaginative approaches to education in the humanities by supporting projects that can be completed within a specified period of time. Most projects are planned and implemented by small groups of faculty, last one to three years, and are concerned with the design of model humanities programs intended for wide-spread use, the development of curriculum materials, or increased collaboration among educational and other cultural institutions. Projects also encourage excellence in teaching and promote serious attention to the central issues in the humanities by bringing groups of college faculty into residence at institutes for periods ranging from four to eight weeks or, in exceptional circumstances, longer for joint curriculum planning.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

In fiscal year 1979, 130 applications were received and 59 were made. Approximately 1,600 institutions over fiscal years 1977, 1978, and 1979 were aided (18 percent of the program's target universe). At least 12,000 people have directly drawn benefit from Higher Education/Regional and National funds through student use of materials, faculty development programs, etc. It is not possible to determine accurately the number of students directly aided through programs of Higher Education/Regional and National grants, because the numbers vary widely from project to project. For example, a project to prepare ten manuals in advanced Chinese languages for graduate students in East Asian Studies may directly benefit only 150 students per year, but those students represent the nation's future generation of Chinese scholars and diplomats. In the other extreme, one anthropological film study of a rural Greek village has been seen by at least 50,000 students in this country over the past three years and has been broadcast by German television. Humanities Institutes alone directly affect the classroom instruction of 65,000 students. Exemplary grants of this program must be viewed against the national background. In an era of declining undergraduate enrollments, higher education has had to take cognizance of changing clientele. Add to this scarcer financial resources and the glut of Ph.D.'s, the national scene has not been a happy one. The Higher Education/Regional and National program has sought to refresh faculty members from all kinds of institutional settings, especially those from small private colleges, community colleges, and colleges and universities which have not traditionally taught humanities courses. It has made grants for programs which allow faculty to update their knowledge of recent developments within their own academic fields (new social history), which educate faculty in disciplines that are allied to their own fields--especially in areas in which connections with other disciplines have not traditionally been made (engineering and architecture), and programs which extend the humanities to new institutions and invite participation by new groups (law enforcement trainers' institute).

45.113 PROMOTION OF THE HUMANITIES—PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

APPLICATION AND AWARD PROCESS:

Preapplication Coordination:

Preliminary draft of a few pages giving purposes, audience, subject matter, presentation methods, personnel involved, and rough cost estimate, should be submitted to headquarters office listed below four weeks in advance of the deadline. Deadlines:

October 15, 1980; January 15, 1981; July 15, 1981.

ASSISTANCE CONSIDERATIONS:

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Ordinarily not longer than 18 months to 2 years. Funds must be expended during the grant period. Funds are released as required.

During fiscal year 1980, 160 applications were received and 95 grants were made. They included grants to national organizations; grants for major regional and urban projects; and grants for programs that reach new audiences with the humanities.

Range and Average of Financial Assistance:

Up to $10,000 for group projects; up to $15,000 for film or video projects; individual projects or high school group projects may not exceed $2,500.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

During fiscal year 1980, 465 formal applications were received and 106 Youthgrants awards were made. Slight increase in applications and awards are expected in fiscal years 1981 and 1982.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

(A) Two high school students from Frederick, Maryland, are researching and developing a tour guide and slide-tape presentation concerning the lives and local legacies of five Revolutionary War generals who grew up within a 25-mile radius in nearby West Virginia. (B) After conducting substantial preliminary research of slave journals, other original documents plus secondary source material, a group of nine Oberlin College students re-created a 412-mile underground slave escape, stirring up great historical interest en route, and culminating in a series of slide presentations and newspaper articles. (C) A 25-year-old filmaker in New York is shooting a film on Harlem's Cotton Club, a major 1930's nightspot which saw the development of great American musical traditions such as the Duke Ellington orchestra. Filmed interviews, old clips, and still photographs will help reveal the unique social context at the club which fostered these musical traditions. (D) A group of high school students from Sebastopol, California created a booklet and videotape on the history of the small-gauge railroad which runs down the main street of the town. Their work won the highest achievement award ever given to the high-school age group by the Association of California Historical Societies. (E) Two recent college graduates have developed an archival collection of photographs on American fire station architecture. The materials, which have been accepted by the Library of Congress, will be useful in preserving this unique aspect of our architectural heritage.

81.053 PUBLIC UTILITY REGULATORY INNOVATIVE RATES SUPPORT

OBJECTIVES:

To fund model projects for planning and carrying out tasks designed to encourage conservation of energy, electric utility efficiency and reduced costs and equitable rates to consumers. Through these projects, DOE seeks to encourage local ratemaking initiatives that go beyond the legal minimum requirements of PURPA and which actually show promise of changing the electric regulatory ratemaking policies or practices. Emphasis is given to proposals which demonstrate transferability to other jurisdictions.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Awards are available for projects that may include up to three ratemaker tasks. DOE's focus on particular ratemaking tasks is likely to vary from one fiscal year to another in order to reflect the evolving energy picture and the progress achieved in particular ratemaking areas. The current focus is on tasks that will emphasize efficiency incentives, oil substitutions initiatives, solar market penetration, curtailment planning, newer technology assessments and interstate cooperation in forecasting, power plant planning and emergency planning. Expenditures of funds are subject to the following limitations: funds may not be used for the purchase or lease of nonoffice equipment; funds may not be used for the purchase of data processing hardware; funds may not be substituted for funds made available to the recipient from other governmental sources; and other limitations imposed by DOE pursuant to applicable statutes or regulations.

In the past, DOE has supported projects in the following ratemaking areas: cost-of-service information systems, estimating consumer class load characteristics, metering for innovative electric rates, rate information for consumers, rates to low-income consumers, solar rate initiatives, rate incentives for utility efficiency, cogeneration rates and load management.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

DOE shall evaluate and select proposed tasks in accordance with program regulations. Each proposed task will be evaluated separately and may receive 100 points maximum. The maximum point score will reflect the evaluation of the following aspects: objectives, task work plan, analytical and methodological approaches, project management, and budget. Any proposed task receiving 45 points or less will not be considered for an award. DOE will rank the proposed tasks taking into account the proposed tasks' evaluation score and the proposer's past performance under a previous award, if any, under this program. DOE shall fund proposed tasks in their order of ranking, until available funds are utilized. When determined to be necessary and appropriate, DOE may negotiate with the proposer on Task Work Plans and Budgets, prior to an award.

83.100 FLOOD INSURANCE

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Property owners may buy flood insurance at a chargeable premium rate which is lower than a normal actuarial rate, reflecting a subsidy by the Federal Government. Maximum amounts of such coverage available under the Emergency Program are: $35,000 for a single-family home, $100,000 for all other residential structures, plus $10,000 per dwelling unit for any contents; for non-residential structures, an aggregate liability for any single structure of $100,000 and for contents, $100,000 per occupant. In communities for which actuarial rates have been determined through a detailed flood insurance risk study, additional coverage on existing properties may be purchased at actuarial rates. The maximum coverage available under this Regular Program is: $185,000 for single-family residential structures; $250,000 for all other residential structures; $60,000 for contents per dwelling unit; $250,000 for small business structures; $300,000 for contents of small businesses; $200,000 for other non-residential structures and $200,000 for their contents. Also, properties built within identified special flood hazard areas after the effective date of the Flood Insurance Rate Map or after December 31, 1974, whichever is later, are eligible for flood insurance only at actuarial rates. Under the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, effective March 2, 1974, flood insurance must be purchased as a condition of any form of Federal or federally-related financial assistance, including Federal grants, disaster assistance and mortgage loans from federally regulated lending institutions and FHA and VA insured or guaranteed mortgages for acquisition or construction purposes within identified special flood hazard areas where flood insurance is available. In a Regular Program Community the maximum insurance required as a condition of Federal or federally-related financial assistance for construction or acquisition purposes within the identified special flood hazard area need not exceed twice the Emergency Program Limits for the same structure. Communities having one or more identified special flood hazard areas must enter into the National Flood Insurance Program by July 1, 1975, or one year after the official identification of their special flood hazard areas, whichever is later, or be denied Federal or federally related financial assistance for acquisition or construction purposes within those areas. Federally-regulated conventional sources (i.e., banks, savings and loan associations, or similar lending institutions) are permitted to make loans secured by improved real estate or a mobile home located or to be located in the identified special flood hazard area of a non-participating community which has been formally identified as flood-prone for more than one year, but Federal disaster assistance for acquisition or construction purposes will not be available in the event of flood or flood-related property damage. Therefore, the conventional lender is statutorily required to notify the borrower, before making a loan in such an area, whether Federal disaster assistance will be available to the property.

Award Procedure:

The Federal Insurance Administrator reviews the application, if complete, designates community as eligible. The community is informed of its eligibility, and notice is published in the Federal Register. Residents and property owners may then purchase subsidized flood insurance from any licensed property or casualty insurance agent or broker licensed within that State.

Appeals:

Communities are given 6 months to appeal FEMA flood-prone identification and are also given an opportunity to appeal FEMA proposed elevation determinations for new construction and substantial improvement of existing structures in the special flood hazard areas. Notification of the proposed levels is published in the Federal Register and is given directly to the local governments. Following notification to the local government, the notice of proposed flood elevation determinations is published twice during a 10-day period in a prominent local newspaper. Residents can then submit their scientific or technical data that tends to negate or contradict the Director's findings within 90 days of the second newspaper publication. If a conflict in data results, which cannot be resolved at the community level, the community consolidates all individual appeals for review by the Administrator. The Administrator shall resolve the appeals by consultation with officials of the local government, or by administrative hearings or by submission of conflicting data to an independent scientific body.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

Obligations:

83.103 STATE ASSISTANCE—NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The State Assistance Program is designed for all States which submit acceptable applications regardless of their present level of involvement or degree of expertise in NFIP and flood hazard mitigation activities. It is structured to recognize the fact that States have individual needs and different levels of sophistication in dealing with the NFIP. Thus, the State Assistance Program allows each State the flexibility necessary to develop its application to accommodate the unique characteristics of the State and its communities, and allows each State to undertake an appropriate level of effort. The State Assistance Program has been designed around three Program Elements: Assessment, General Assistance and Public Information, and Community Services. The Program Elements are structured in order of increased levels of capability needed to accomplish their tasks. The State shall choose objectives and tasks from the Program Elements that are consistent with its demonstrated capability and develop a project designed to provide a foundation upon which to progress towards Program Elements requiring higher capabilities. Accomplishing the objectives of Program Elements requiring less capability is prerequisite for choosing elements requiring higher capability. All projects under the State Assistance Program for the NFIP should be oriented toward State and local activities. They should in no way analyze or recommend changes to the NFIP or its products. Specifically, no funds should be spent to evaluate the hydrology or hydraulics of any Flood Insurance Study. Public works, facilities and site or other improvements are generally ineligible to be acquired, constructed, reconstructed, rehabilitated or installed. The purchase of equipment is generally ineligible. A separate fund for innovative projects under the State Assistance Program has been established. Each State's application for the target amount of funding may contain a supplemental project proposing innovative tasks to be funded from this fund.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

In fiscal year 1979, 153 projects were funded. In fiscal year 1980, 150 projects were funded, serving approximately 69,000 children. In fiscal year 1981, an estimated 110 projects will be funded. In addition to the currently funded local educational agencies and the 19 model sponsors, 21 resource centers are being funded to demonstrate successful Follow Through educational practices to interested persons.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

Grants for carrying out local Follow Through Projects: Each local project is like a miniature school system, although it might also be viewed as a part of a school system limited to certain schools and certain grade levels (K-3) within the large community school system. The communities are responsible for a total program of effort with the educational effort making up only one of the components. Aside from recognizing a variety of educational strategies, Follow Through recognizes the relationship between educational development and the physical, social and emotional well-being of the child by providing comprehensive services and special activities in the areas of physical and mental health, social services, nutrition and such other areas which supplement basic services already within the school system. Grants to Local Follow Through Projects for Expanded Demonstration Activities: Certain local Follow Through Projects have been awarded additional funds to create nationwide awareness and adoption of their successful educational practices. These demonstration centers or "Resource Centers" as they are called, have been validated for the effectiveness of their educational products and practices by the Joint Dissemination Review Panel (JDRP) in the Department of Education. Resource Centers represent exemplary projects where educational activities have been moved into a wider process of dissemination so that other local school districts can select, and adopt, the validated innovations. Grant or Assistance Contracts for Demonstration (Sponsors): Sponsor grants are grants for the development of the educational approaches used in the local Follow Through projects. The approaches subscribe to a number of basic theories of learning and child development and are embodied in different models, most of which are being tried out at several local sites. In most instances the models have been designed, and are being implemented and monitored, by sponsors, and their staffs, usually based in universities or regional research laboratories. All sponsors serve the compensatory education objectives and accept the principle of parent and community involvement. Each carries out training of administrators, teachers, parents, and the community in implementing the processes of the educational model. However, the sponsors differ among themselves in the priorities which they assign to these objectives, in the sequence in which they pursue them, and in the diverse psychological theories of learning and personality development which serve as the foundations for the varying approaches.

86.001 PENSION PLAN TERMINATION INSURANCE (ERISA)

FEDERAL AGENCY: PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

AUTHORIZATION: Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, Title IV (Plan Termination Insurance), Public Law 93-406, as amended.

OBJECTIVES: To encourage the continuation and maintenance of voluntary private pension plans for the benefit of their participants, to provide for the timely and uninterrupted payment of pension benefits to participants in and beneficiaries of covered plans, and to maintain premiums charged by the PBGC at the lowest level consistent with carrying out its obligations.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE: Insurance.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS: Insurance coverage is mandatory for most single employer defined benefit pension plans and, in cases where certain statutory conditions have been met, coverage has been extended at the discretion of the PBGC to multiemployer plans terminating prior to August 1, 1980. Upon termination of a covered plan, the PBGC guarantees payment of benefits vested under the terms of the plan within limits specified in the Act. The guaranteed basic benefits payable to a participant or beneficiary under a covered plan may not exceed the actuarial value at the time of termination of a monthly benefit in the form of a life annuity commencing at age 65 equal to the lesser of: (1) $750, adjusted to reflect changes in the Social Security contribution and benefit base, or (2) a participant's high consecutive five-year average monthly gross income. When covered plans or amendments to them are less than five years old at termination, basic benefits are guaranteed on a graduated basis. Insurance on single employers is presently retroactive to September 2, 1974. Benefits of persons defined as "substantial owners" are guaranteed on a 30-year graduated basis, subject to certain additional limits in the case of increased benefits due to plan amendment. The Multiemployer Pension Plan Amendment Act of 1980, signed into law September 26, 1980, alters the nature of the insurance program for terminating multiemployer pension plans. The Act alters the concept of plan termination for such plans, reduces the level of guarantees, creates a program of reorganization for plans with certain funding problems, and restructures PBGC's role so that its role would be to extend financial assistance to certain troubled plans in order that they be able to meet plan commitments owed under the reduced guaranteed level.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS:

Applicant Eligibility: Small businesses and organizations operating for profit.

Beneficiary Eligibility: All participants of covered single employer or multiemployer pension plans which have terminated subsequent to July 1, 1974, are potentially eligible beneficiaries of plan termination insurance payments.

Credentials/Documentation: In support of Notice of Intent to Terminate Plan, records relating to financial operations and participants must be made available.

APPLICATION AND AWARD PROCESS:

Preapplication Coordination: None.

Application Procedure: A plan administrator who intends to terminate a covered plan must give the PBGC prior notification of the intention to do so in accordance with PBGC regulations.

Award Procedure: The PBGC determines whether or not the assets of covered plans which have either notified the PBGC of their intent to terminate or against which the PBGC has initiated termination proceedings are sufficient to pay guaranteed benefits. If plan assets are found to be insufficient or the PBGC is unable to determine asset sufficiency, it will normally have itself named as trustee to administer the plan. The PBGC is liable to pay amounts necessary to assure that basic benefits guaranteed under Title IV of the Act are paid to participants or beneficiaries under covered insufficient plans.

Deadlines: An annual premium filing form (Form PBGC-1) and a premium payment for existing plans must be filed by the plan administrator with the PBGC no later than seven months after the close of the prior plan year. A Form PBGC-1 and premium payment for new plans or newly covered plans must be filed seven months after the beginning of the plan year or 30 days after the effective date of the plan whichever is later. Notification of intent to terminate a plan must be submitted to the PBGC by the plan administrator at least 10 days prior to the proposed date of termination. An appeal of an initial determination made by the PBGC normally must be filed within 45 days after the date of the initial determination being appealed.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time: Not applicable.

Appeals: Any person aggrieved by an initial determination made by the PBGC which is covered by the appeals procedures may file an appeal. An appeal or a request for an extension of time to appeal should be submitted to the Appeals Board, Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20006. In addition, the PBGC has the authority to review informally, upon request, determinations that are not covered by the appeals procedures when it determines that it would be appropriate to do so.

Renewals: Not applicable.

Formula and Matching Requirements: Not applicable.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance: Not applicable.

POST ASSISTANCE REQUIREMENTS:

Reports: An annual report (Form 5500 or 5500-A) must be filed by the plan administrator with the Internal Revenue Service no later than seven months after the close of the prior plan year. Certain events which may indicate serious problems within a plan also must be reported to the PBGC, normally within 30 days after the plan administrator learns of them. Such reportable events include loss of tax qualification; a plan amendment which may result in a decrease in benefits; a decrease in active participants of more than 20 percent in one year or more than 25 percent in two years; an Internal Revenue Service determination that there has been a plan termination or partial plan termination for tax purposes; failure to meet minimum funding standards; inability to pay benefits when due; a plan merger, consolidation or transfer of assets; noncompliance with Title I of ERISA; distribution to a substantial owner of $10,000 or more; alternative compliance with reporting and disclosure requirements of Title I; bankruptcy, insolvency or similar settlements; liquidation or dissolution; or transaction involving a change of employer.

Audits: The PBGC conducts audits to determine whether or not the assets of covered plans which have either notified the Corporation of their intent to terminate or against which the Corporation has initiated termination proceedings are sufficient to pay guaranteed benefits. The PBGC also may contact participants of terminated plans to ensure that assets were distributed in accordance with representations of their plan administrators. In instances where assets of the plan are not sufficient to pay guaranteed benefits, PBGC conducts audits of sponsor to determine net worth and consequent ability to pay any employer liability.

Records: Records maintenance requirements for pension plans are specified by the Labor-Management Services Administration, Department of Labor.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

Account Identification: 16-4204-0-3-601.

Range and Average of Financial Assistance: Monthly benefit range per retiree, as of 6/30/80: $5 - $1,159; average monthly benefit per retiree, estimated fiscal year 1981: $139 (single employer plan), $95 (multiemployer plan).

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS: PBGC administers an insurance program guaranteeing certain pension benefits to approximately 33 million participants in approximately 80,000 private defined benefit pension plans. In fiscal year 1979, there were 20,791 participants of trusteed plans in pay status and PBGC paid $36,663,000 in benefits. It is estimated that PBGC will pay $46,758,000 in benefits in fiscal year 1980.

FMC 74-4

Federal Management Circular (FMC) 74-4 establishes principles and standards for determining costs applicable to grants and contracts with State and local governments. They are designed to provide the basis for a uniform approach to the problem of determining costs and to promote efficiency and better relationships between grantees and the Federal Government.

When State and local governments are recipients, the following programs listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance are subject to the provision of FMC 74-4, except where restricted or prohibited by law.

Included also in the list are programs falling under the purview of FMC 74-4 because the Federal grantor agencies have elected to use the FMC 74-4 standards for recipients and programs not otherwise covered by the circular.

When State and local governments are recipients, the following programs listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance are subject to the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-102.

Included also in the list are programs falling under the purview of OMB Circular No. A-102 because the Federal grantor agencies have elected to use the OMB Circular No. A-102 standards for recipients and programs not otherwise covered by the circular.

Environmental Impact Statement

Specific programs listed in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance have been determined to have a significant effect on the environment and require an environmental assessment or an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) under Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (Public Law 90-190; 42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C), and Executive Order 11514 (34 FR 4247) of March 4, 1970. Appendix V: Sources of Additional Information Contacts

Additional information concerning Federal programs and services is available from the sources listed below. The information in this Appendix is in addition to that supplied in Appendix IV (Regional and Local Office addresses), but are not the offices to which an applicant applies for an assistance program. If a potential applicant or information seeker is not certain which agency to contact, there are three types of organizations ready to help: The Federal Information Centers, the Federal Regional Councils, and the Federal Executive Boards.

FEDERAL INFORMATION CENTERS

Federal Information Centers (FIC) are a focal point for information about the Federal Government. Centers assist people who have questions about Federal services, programs, and regulations, but do not know where to turn for an answer. FIC information specialists either answer an inquirer's questions directly, or perform the necessary research to locate and refer the inquirer to the expert best able to help. There are currently 41 FIC's with an additional 43 cities connected to the nearest Center by telephone tieline. Five States offer statewide toll-free '800' service to State residents. The FIC addresses and telephone numbers are listed below.

FEDERAL REGIONAL COUNCILS

The Federal Regional Councils, or FRC's, consist of the principal regional officials of the Departments of Agriculture; Commerce; Energy; Health, Education, and Welfare; Housing and Urban Development; Interior; Labor; Transportation; the Community Services Administration; and Environmental Protection Agency. The Federal Regional Councils can answer many questions concerning assistance programs, but they best serve the needs of larger organizations and units of State and local governments.
